Fascinating Pelagic Birds

Those who dwell, as scientists or laymen, among the beauties and mysteries of the earth, are never alone or weary of life."

- Rachel Carson

1000's of Shorebirds

A typical migratory bird relies on many different geographic locations throughout its annual cycle for food, rest and breeding. So even if we protect most of their breeding grounds, it's still not enough - threats somewhere else can affect the entire population, the chain can be broken at any link.

Curious Forest birds

"A forest bird never wants a cage"
- Henrik Ibsen

A detailed black and white illustration of a bird's head and neck, shown in profile facing left. The bird has a long, sharp, slightly curved beak. Its eye is small and dark. The feathers on its head and neck are intricately detailed with fine lines and stippling, suggesting a textured surface. The background is a plain, light color.

- Rachel Carson

"Last, loneliest, loveliest, exquisite, apart,
On us, on us, the unswerving season smiles,
Who wonder 'mid our ferns why men depart
To seek the Happy Isles."
- Rudyard Kipling
