

About Us

LA Insider Tours was established in 2011 and offers completely private tours of Los Angeles, Hollywood & beyond. While there are many tour offerings in Los Angeles, we wanted to be different.

With an eye on customer service and a fun, informational approach to the city of Los Angeles, we aim to provide an exceptional experience to all of our clients.

Since we all love to travel, we know how difficult it can be navigating a new city. Additionally, we understand that our clients want to get the most out of their dollar while here and they don't want to waste any time seeing places and things that hold no interest to them. That is why we made our tours a fully customizable experience. Additionally, since all of our tours are private, it ensures that they won't be just another one of the herd on a giant tour bus, but rather treated like a part of the LA Insider Tours Family.

We have several different tour guides that all have lived and worked in Los Angeles for many years. They each bring a different experience to the tour. We don't work off of scripts, rather we get to know our clients and make them a part of the conversation and experience. It is because of our efforts that we have consistently been among the top tour operators on Trip Advisor and have clients recommending us over and over again.

Steve Kasher

Founder of LA Insider Tours, Steve Kasher knows a little bit about being a visitor in an unfamiliar place having traveled to 5 continents and 25 countries over the last 10 years.

Armed with his love of travel, different cultures and, of course, Los Angeles, he set aside his law career to start LA Insider Tours. He gladly gave up arguments with opposing counsel so he could talk culture, history and current events with people visiting from all over the world – all the while touring the wonderful city of Los Angeles.

With a wealth of knowledge about Los Angeles and random trivia, Steve makes sure that each tour he gives is like taking an adventure.

An avid surfer, Steve visits the beaches in and around Los Angeles including Malibu and Santa Monica as well as Huntington Beach and Ventura as often as he can. He also loves exploring the mountains and valleys including Death Valley, Monument Valley, Zion National Park and Bryce Canyon National Park.

Steve believes that tours should be more than just spewing out facts about a city and shuttling on and off a crowded tour bus with people you don't know. It's about experiencing and exploring a new city on your own terms.

Our Guides

Kevin Macias

Kevin grew up in nearby Fontana and has also lived in San Francisco. Through the years Kevin has guided people through San Francisco, a brew pub, and of course LA. Just like everyone else in LA he is working on a show biz career — When he's not showing our clients all corners of LA, he leads an open mike night and performs in comedy clubs throughout the area.

Rivers Langley

Rivers came to LA to pursue a career in stand-up comedy and, like most people, immediately fell in love with Southern California. Like Kevin, Rivers can now be seen performing all throughout the thriving Los Angeles comedy scene. He has a love of pop culture, history, and literature. He also happens to be a walking encyclopedia of L.A. with a knack for storytelling. He will tell you anything you need to know.

Lily Zepeda

Lily is a Jack (or Jill?) of all trades. She is an actress who's appeared in numerous commercials, acts as a TV and web host at red carpet events, and is an accomplished journalist. She's also tutored children with learning disabilities. Oh, and ask her about toilets — she's producing a documentary about them.

Rosie Rountree

When you meet Rosie Rountree, you will probably wrack your brain trying to figure out where you have seen her before. That is probably because she has appeared in various commercials and television shows, including recurring roles on The Closer and Raising Hope. This is in addition to her guest starring roles on The Mentalist, Gang Related and Castle. The lifelong Southern Californian even stayed here for college, when she received a Theater Arts degree from Cal State Fullerton.

While living out her Hollywood dream, she has also continued to indulge her passion for discovering new and interesting places in Los Angeles. Fluent in Spanish, Rosie is just one of our guides who can offer tours for our guests for whom English might be a second language.

Christina Giagos

A Los Angeles native, Christina Giagos knows a thing or two about LA life — she is an actress after all. She has studied at the British American Dramatic Academy in Oxford, England where she trained with members of the Royal Shakespeare Company and in Bordeaux, France. She loves being behind the camera as much as she loves being in front of it, having created a comedic web-series and a short film, which is being submitted to film festivals. She loves discovering new and different places throughout Los Angeles and sharing her love of the city with everyone.

Scott Thaelke

Scott has been in the film animation industry for 30 years and lived in LA for the last 20. He has worked as Line Producer or Associate Producer in charge of production of an animated TV series for prestigious studios like Dreamworks Animation, Universal Animation, Sony Children's TV Animation and Warner Bros. Animation. He has worked with celebrities such as Neil Patrick Harris, Jeffrey Tambor, Lenard Nimoy, Kathy Griffin and Ed Asner to name a few. Some of his varied credits include work on the animated series Tom & Jerry, Scooby-Doo, Spider-Man, Starship Troopers, and Land Before Time. He melds that experience with a love of classic Hollywood and meeting his famous neighbors in Beachwood Canyon to bring you a fascinatingly diverse tour.
