

San Miguel River

1-5-day trips Class I - III

The San Miguel River winds its way through alpine terrain near Telluride and Trout Lake to a desert confluence with the Dolores River 80 miles north. Sandstone canyons vie with granite passages for nature at its best. Some rare riverbank plant life thrives here and as you work your way toward the Dolores and lower elevations, the flora and fauna will change seemingly around each bend.

Class II and III rapids along the Upper San Miguel provide challenging kayaking and rafting. Trips varying in length from 1-5 days can be done on the San Miguel and trips of 6-12 days are available by combining the San Miguel with the Dolores and Colorado Rivers.

SEASON

Early to mid-May to the first part of July is the usual season for this river, which relies on the snowpack from the slopes above Telluride. Folks generally stop rafting when the flow gets down to 500 cfs and lower.

PERMITS

We operate on the San Miguel River under a special use permit from the Bureau of Land management, Uncompahgre Field Office, Montrose, Colorado.

We are Colorado's first licensed outfitter, licensed by Colorado's Division of Parks and Outdoor Recreation. All our permits and licenses are your assurance that Dvorak Expeditions is legally operating on the river and that our guides, past performance and qualifications have met detailed requirements and more.

Fishing is permitted on the San Miguel River with a Colorado license. On preserved lands, all fishing is catch and release using flies and lures only. Your guide will advise on this. Request Fishing Brochure for more details

CARE OF THE ENVIRONMENT

River use Ethics: The river areas are fragile environments that degrade without proper care by visitors. To protect the river, we use minimum impact camping techniques carrying out all trash and human waste, etc. The guides will instruct you in simple procedures that minimize the impact our group has on the canyon and we request your cooperation. We take pride in having the highest standard of river ethics possible.

All on-river meals are provided, beginning with lunch on the first day and ending with lunch on the last day. The food is fresh and hearty, and the guides will prepare it for you while you enjoy the homey atmosphere generated around each river camp.
