KENT COOKERY SCHOOL

Deep in the heart of Kent, in the picturesque setting of the Marsham-le-Hatch Estate lies Kent's top-rated cookery school.

The school offers a relaxed, informal setting where people of all abilities can come and learn, eat, and make some great memories.

We are 'well seasoned' in running great, hands-on cookery events that not only spark conversations but encourage working together to come to a delicious end result!

Our private parties and corporate days are completely bespoke to your needs and are a great way for your team to gain new skills and enjoy some great food - so let us help you create a memorable event.

CORPORATE EVENT FULL DAY HIRE

We have a multifunctional space to host a working away day for your team. You can make use of The Pantry to host meetings, workshops, or training before your cookery class.

You will still enjoy all the fun of our cookery team-building sessions whilst getting the hard work out of the way first.

On arrival use The Pantry to host your meeting, if you wish to have a working lunch then this will be provided by our chef before heading into the kitchen for your cookery session. Usually, if a working lunch is opted for then the cookery session will be a 'To Go' where everything is packaged up and everyone takes home their creations.

If no working lunch is opted for then you can go straight into the cookery session from the morning meeting and sit and eat your creations after your class for a late lunch.

"This is our team's second visit to the Kent Cookery School and I have to say, our high expectations of a good day were met again! James, Autumn, and Pippa are excellent hosts and looked after us throughout the day from morning coffees and pastries to an exceptional lunch. We opted for the Middle Eastern cooking lesson this time around, and we were not disappointed! " TenIntelligence

PRIVATE PARTIES & CORPORATE EVENTS TUTORED COOKERY CLASS

Our cooking classes are a fantastic way to work together outside the office setting. Get to know each other as more than just colleagues in an unusual team-building event.

Also perfect for those birthday parties, hen do's, or any special occasion between friends and families.

Each class includes 3 hours of hands-on cooking where you will work as pairs/or a group to create a delicious feast to enjoy at the end of the session.

"Celebrated with friends for my Mum's 60th and had a brilliant time learning new skills and new recipes. Beautiful setting and great recipes that feel achievable to remember and recreate at home. Autumn, James, and Pippa were super friendly and helpful in organising and recommending other local places to try out. Would highly recommend and hope to be back soon." Charlotte

TEAM BUILDING - READY, STEADY, COOK SESSION

Cooking with a twist, this session is ideal for building colleague relationships whilst adding in some fun competitiveness. Communication will be key in this untutored session as teams will need to work together to figure out recipes, their way around the kitchen, and ultimately create a delicious dish to feast on.

Teams will be judged on a points system, where questions asked to the Head Chef mean a deduction of points, but don't worry, a clean cooking station and other things can win you points back too!

Each session lasts 3 hours. All guests receive a Kent Cookery School certificate and there is an additional prize for the winning team.

We offer a Middle Eastern-inspired menu for this session. Further details can be given when enquired.
